Dear Friends,

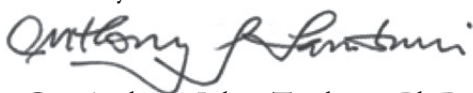

Over the last thirty-eight years the John D. Calandra Italian American Institute has been devoted to documenting and preserving the Italian American experience. To fulfill this mission, the Institute has built a comprehensive, multifaceted approach involving scholarly research, public programs, visual arts, literature, film, and counseling services. This report highlights the Institute's work during academic year 2016–2017.

The Calandra Institute was established to represent the largest European ancestral group in New York City and State, and operates from an academic perspective, fostering higher education among and about Italian Americans, advising students, generating awareness of issues affecting the community, and conducting demographic, humanistic, and social science research in order to deepen the understanding of Italian American and Italian diasporic history and culture.

If you have attended any of the Institute's events, you have experienced its diverse programming—from symposia to art exhibitions to our television program Italics on CUNY TV—all free of charge and readily accessible. If you have not yet visited, we extend an invitation to you now in the hopes that you will come to see the Institute's work as essential both to New York and American history.

The John D. Calandra Italian American Institute is the world's only organization of its kind and scope devoted to the study of Italian America and the Italian diaspora. We welcome your participation and support.

Sincerely,

Cav. Anthony Julian Tamburri, Ph.D.
Dean and Distinguished Professor

Introduction

The John D. Calandra Italian American Institute of The City University of New York (CUNY) began as the Italian American Institute to Foster Higher Education. In 1978, New York State Senator John D. Calandra, then chairperson of the Italian Legislative Caucus, called for the creation of an Italian American institute to address historical, sociological, political, and cultural issues specific to the demographic group.

The New York Conference of Italian American State Legislators funded the institution in 1979 to respond to the educational needs and concerns expressed by Italian American students, faculty, and staff at CUNY. Eight years later, the Institute was renamed the John D. Calandra Italian American Institute, in honor of the late senator. In 1995, the CUNY Board of Trustees officially designated the Institute as a university-wide research institute devoted to the Italian American experience, under the aegis of Queens College.

The Institute's mission is in keeping with that of The City University of New York: to foster higher education among future generations. The Institute seeks to heighten awareness of the immigrant experience and broaden the understanding of the history of Italian Americans in the United States of America. The Institute fulfills its mission through its commitment to:

- Conduct, sponsor, and publish empirical, theoretical, and analytical research that will expand critical understanding of the Italian American experience.
- Operate specialized counseling programs in areas of outreach, articulation, student retention at CUNY, and career aspirations.

- Publish a peer-reviewed semi-annual journal, Italian American Review.
- Serve as a central clearinghouse for the dissemination of research to academia, government, industry, and the civic community.
- Organize conferences, lectures, seminars, and symposia on Italian America and the Italian diaspora.
- Administer a CUNY/Italy Exchange program between CUNY and Italian universities.
- Maintain a resource library of printed material and video pertaining to Italian America.
- Maintain databases regarding Italian American students and faculty at CUNY as well as faculty, scholars, and professionals at other universities.
- Produce and distribute a television program, Italics, to disseminate news about Italian America and feature influential figures in related fields.

Research and Programs

Annual Conference

Since 2008 the John D. Calandra Italian American Institute has hosted an annual, peer-reviewed, interdisciplinary two-day conference attended by scholars and participants from around the globe.

The 2017 conference, “Italian Sonorities and Acoustic Communities: Listening to the Soundscapes of Italianità,” focused on music and other sounds associated with Italy and the Italian diaspora. Thirty scholars from five countries gathered together to present their research findings to a wide audience of academics, students, and the general public.

Counseling

The Institute has provided counseling services to Italian American students and the community since 1979.

Specialized counselors are trained in and sensitive to the history, culture, and experience of Italians in America. The counselors are licensed clinicians who provide an array of services including academic advising, career development, and personal counseling.

CUNY CAMPUS COUNSELING

Counselors work at select CUNY campuses, providing support to Italian American students in higher education. The critical goal of student retention and development is accomplished through academic, career, and personal counseling. Counselors assist students to develop and refine their educational plans, from associate's degree to doctoral and professional levels. During the 2016–2017 academic year, counselors provided liaison to CUNY college campuses at Baruch, Brooklyn, Hunter, Lehman, Queens, and Queensborough.

HIGH SCHOOL COUNSELING

Outreach services are offered at high schools with high concentrations of Italian American students or strong interest in Italian language and Italian American culture. Counselors promote interest in higher education through career exploration and college advisement. During the 2016–2017 academic year, counselors provided services to the following high schools: New Utrecht, Xaverian, Michael J. Petrides School, Moore Catholic High School, and Holy Cross.

CUNY/Italy Exchange

The CUNY/Italy Exchange program is designed for undergraduate and graduate students interested in coursework and research in many areas of intellectual pursuit. The program provides participants with an individualized focus in their academic discipline and opportunities to gain international perspectives and skills to support their career goals. Participating universities include: Link Campus University Rome, Roma Tre University, University of Calabria, University for Foreigners Perugia, University of Perugia, and University of Siena. During the 2016–2017 academic year, four Italian students and four American students took part in the program. The exchange program also places faculty fellows and research scholars at the Institute and various CUNY campuses.

International Study

International scholar and student exchange is a significant component of the Institute's mission. Administering these programs entails recruitment, coordination with scholars in both countries, student advising, arranging housing, and overall management of foreign and domestic students throughout their tenure abroad.

ITALIAN DIASPORA STUDIES SUMMER SEMINAR

In 2015 the John D. Calandra Italian American Institute and the University of Calabria embarked on a collaborative endeavor designed to introduce doctoral students and professors to cultural studies of the Italian diaspora from a variety of academic perspectives. The program was funded by the Italian Language Intercultural Alliance, National Italian American Foundation, Order Sons of Italy in America Grand Lodge in New York, and Unico National. The summer 2017 seminar was attended by seventeen professors and doctoral students from Australia, Canada, Italy, the United Kingdom, and United States.

SUMMER STUDY ABROAD IN PERUGIA

The Summer Study Abroad in Perugia program provides American students the opportunity to study Italian language and culture in Perugia, a medieval city in Umbria, Italy. This program is offered in collaboration with the Department of European Languages and Literatures at Queens College, CUNY. In summer 2017, ten students studied abroad at the University for Foreigners, Perugia.

Italics

Italics: Television for the Italian American Experience is a monthly half-hour magazine format presentation in the CUNY Presents timeslot that features prominent Italian Americans in the arts, business, government, sports, academia, and more. Each episode explores various aspects of the diaspora, Italian American history and traditions, and contemporary Italian American life. Italics is now in its third decade serving the Italian American community and those interested in Italian American culture.

Research

Institute initiatives employ a range of disciplines and methods—from interpretive humanistic analysis to hypothesis-driven, quantitative research—to study individuals, communities, organizations, and institutions of the past and present.

In addition to research conducted by staff, the Institute supports international scholars by providing access to facilities and opportunities to present ongoing and published work.

CULTURAL STUDIES

Research in the arts and humanities examines the ways in which Italian American culture is articulated in historical, social, economic, cultural, and political contexts. Areas of exploration include literature, music, cinema, theater, and the interdisciplinary fields of migration and diasporic studies, literary and film criticism, media, popular culture, folklife, and vernacular culture.

SOCIODEMOGRAPHICS

Quantitative analyses in sociodemographic fields interpret the lives of Italian Americans in the United States. Research in the disciplines of demographics, linguistics, political science, psychology, and sociology highlights the cultural presence, economics, educational achievements, family structure, life cycles, and occupational participation of Italian Americans.

Specific reports provide the basis for Italian American affirmative action data and personnel accountability at The City University of New York.

Community Engagement

Advisory Councils

The Institute has convened and maintains meeting schedules for several prominent advisory groups. Participating members represent a range of academics and professionals in the Italian American community.

ITALIAN AMERICAN COMMUNITY ADVISORY COUNCIL includes members from major Italian American organizations. The council facilitates the development and growth of various Italian American associations.

ITALIAN AMERICAN STUDIES ADVISORY COUNCIL advises on research, service projects, and other academic programs that focus on Italian American studies curricula and development.

ITALIAN LANGUAGE ADVISORY COUNCIL advises on the status of Italian language instruction at CUNY. The council addresses the involvement of the university's Italian departments and advocates for the expansion of Italian American studies curriculum.

ITALIAN AMERICAN FACULTY AND STAFF ADVISORY COUNCIL is comprised of representatives from each CUNY campus who advise college presidents on matters affecting the university's Italian American community. Delegates articulate the concerns of students, faculty, and staff at individual campuses and recommend methods of resolution.

Calandra Community Book Club

Since 2014 the Institute has hosted a monthly book club where participants come together to examine classics of Italian American literature. Works read and discussed during the 2016–2017 school year included: Lightning Field, by Dana Spiotta; Sometimes I Dream in Italian, by Rita Ciresi; Sins of the Fathers, by Gay Talese; In Other Words, by Jhumpa Lahiri.

Community Calendar

The Institute collates and disseminates monthly event information submitted by community organizations. The calendar is distributed via email to more than 6,000 subscribers.

Friends of the John D. Calandra Italian American Institute Foundation

This foundation was established to support and advance the education and research mission of the Institute, in particular the sponsorship of recommended projects and programs.

Italian Heritage and Culture Month

Since 1976, leading institutions in New York's Italian American community have organized a series of events to coincide with Columbus Day celebrations in October. The John D. Calandra Italian American Institute is a major sponsor of the Italian Heritage and Culture Committee of New York and its work upholding this significant cultural responsibility. Additionally, the Institute coordinates and produces the annual directory of Italian Heritage and Culture Month special events, concerts, lectures, and proclamations in and around New York City. The 2016 theme was “Celebrating 40 Years of Italian Culture in America.”

Italian Language Intercultural Alliance

Since 2009, the Institute has cosponsored the Italian Language Intercultural Alliance's annual conference and provided critical support to advance the cause of the Advanced Placement exam in Italian language at high schools in the United States.

Italian Language Resource Laboratory

In 2015 the Institute established the Italian Language Resource Laboratory to provide educators with a forum through which participants can conduct and publish research, disseminate information, and organize symposia focused on teaching.

The laboratory publishes a refereed online publication, Teaching Italian Language and Culture Annual, to discuss the empirical and theoretical concerns of teaching language and learning and to facilitate scholarly exchange among teachers and researchers.
